District Project - Emergency Medical Booklets

This project was developed in South Australia and has been established to link the Ambulance Service and Rotary together. The project involves clubs purchasing a package of booklets and then either donating or selling them for a gold coin. The cost of each booklet is $1.00.

The booklets contain information on patients (1 booklet per patient) including medications, medical conditions and patient history. The booklets are kept on the fridge of the patient – and in case of an emergency, the ambulance officer will check the fridge and will have ready details on the persons medical history.

Further information about this most effective Community project can be obtained from Ray Adams. Telephone 59683996 or Email: Ray Adams

A JOKE FOR THE WEEK

A scoutmaster and his wife were driving along a rural highway when they found the road blocked by a herd of cows that had escaped through a broken fence.

The scoutmaster tried beeping his horn to scare the cattle from the pavement, but to no avail. For some reason, no sound was heard. He got out of the car, lifted the hood, and saw the problem, a loose wire, which he quickly fixed.

As he got back into the car, his wife asked him if he'd had any luck.

"Yep," he replied, "beep repaired!"
