Presidents Report

After the disruptions of the Christmas break, we dive straight into fundraising next week with the Ladies Golf parking. The rosters have been mailed out so please check them.

The Adelaide Conference is fast approaching, it is recommended especially for the newer members. Have you booked yet? Details have been in our bulletin, we are holding top accommodation that is right opposite the venue.

Last Monday we looked at Australia Day, its history, what it stands for and how people would be celebrating it.

Next Monday we look at a slightly older celebration, this time for a person who, 251 years after his birth has dinners in his honour still being held worldwide. His birthday on Jan 25th is celebrated in an astonishingly large number of countries and our Scottish members Craig and Katherine will explain how and why. We refer to the birth of Robbie Burns, a Scottish Poet and song writer whose work drew deeply from Scottish lore. Almost everybody in the world knows at least some of his work. Our meeting will celebrate his birth and work so we suggest that it might be appropriate to wear or bring some kind of Tartan or Scottish item just to round out the evening.

Bill Sides

Rotary Four Way Test

"Of the things we think, say or do:

1. Is it the Truth?
2. Is it Fair to all concerned?
3. Will it build goodwill and better friendships?
4. Will it be beneficial to all concerned?"

Who is Robbie Burns?

Born in Alloway, Ayrshire, in 1759 to William Burness, a poor tenant farmer, and Agnes Broun, Robert Burns was the eldest of seven. He spent his youth working his father's farm, but in spite of his poverty he was extremely well read - at the insistence of his father, who employed a tutor for Robert and younger brother Gilbert. At 15 Robert was the principal worker on the farm and this prompted him to start writing in an attempt to find "some kind of counterpoise for his circumstances." It was at this tender age that Burns penned his first verse, "My Handsome Nell", which was an ode to the other subjects that dominated his life, namely scotch and women.

When his father died in 1784, Robert and his brother became partners in the farm. However, Robert was more interested in the romantic nature of poetry than the arduous graft of ploughing and, having had some misadventures with the ladies (resulting in several illegitimate children, including twins to the woman who would become his wife, Jean Armour), he planned to escape to the safer, sunnier climes of the West Indies.

However, at the point of abandoning farming, his first collection "Poems- Chiefly in the Scottish Dialect - Kilmarnock Edition" (a set of poems essentially based on a broken love affair), was published and received much critical acclaim. This, together with pride of parenthood, made him stay in Scotland. He moved around the country, eventually arriving in Edinburgh, where he mingled in the illustrious circles of the artists and writers who were agog at the "Ploughman Poet."

In a matter of weeks he was transformed from local hero to a national celebrity, fussed over by the Edinburgh literati of the day, and Jean Armour's father allowed her to marry him, now that he was no longer a lowly wordsmith. Alas, the trappings of fame did not bring fortune and he took up a job as an exciseman to supplement the meagre income. Whilst collecting taxes he continued to write, contributing songs to the likes of James Johnston's "Scot's Musical Museum" and George Thomson's "Select Collection of Original Scottish Airs." In all, more than 400 of Burns' songs are still in existence.

The last years of Burns' life were devoted to penning great poetic masterpieces such as The Lea Rig, Tam O'Shanter and a Red, Red Rose. He died aged 37 of heart disease exacerbated by the hard manual work he undertook when he was young. His death occurred on the same day as his wife Jean gave birth to his last son, Maxwell.

On the day of his burial more than 10,000 people came to watch and pay their respects. However, his popularity then was nothing compared to the heights it has reached since.

On the anniversary of his birth, Scots both at home and abroad celebrate Robert Burns with a supper, where they address the haggis, the ladies and whisky. A celebration which would undoubtedly make him proud.

THE OBJECT OF ROTARY

1. The development of acquaintance as an opportunity for service;
2. High ethical standards in business and professions; the recognition of the worthiness of all useful occupations, and the dignifying of each Rotarian's occupation as an opportunity to serve society;
3. The application of the ideal of service in each Rotarian's personal, business, and community life;
4. The advancement of international understanding, goodwill, and peace through a world fellowship of business and professional persons united in the ideal of service.

Last Meeting & Notes

Last Meeting (24/01):

This week we had an Australia Day Theme meeting back at Lunicos. Bill Sides started the meeting with a special toast to our country Australia and Rotary International. Bill then spoke briefly about the history of Australia Day and what are the many celebrations performed on the day. (See last weeks bulletin for the history of Australia Day).

Bill then handed the meeting over to Glenys Pattison who spoke about the history of the lyrics to Advance Australia Fair. The lyrics for Advance Australia Fair were composed by Peter Dodds McCormick in the late 19th century and it was first performed by Andrew Fairfax at a Highland Society function in Sydney on St Andrews Day, 30th November 1878. The song did not gain its status as the official anthem until 1984. Until then, the song was sung in Australia as a patriotic song. The original lyrics published in 1879 were as follows:

Verse 1

Australia's sons let us rejoice,
For we are young and free;
We've golden soil and wealth for toil,
Our home is girt by sea;
Our land abounds in Nature's gifts
Of beauty rich and rare;
In hist'ry's page, let ev'ry stage
Advance Australia fair.
In joyful strains then let us sing,
Advance Australia fair.

Verse 2

When gallant Cook from Albion sailed,
To trace wide oceans o'er,
True British courage bore him on,
Til he landed on our shore.
Then here he raised Old England's flag,
The standard of the brave;
"With all her faults we love her still"
"Britannia rules the wave."
In joyful strains then let us sing
Advance Australia fair.

Verse 3

While other nations of the globe
Behold us from afar,
We'll rise to high renown and shine
Like our glorious southern star;
From England soil and Fatherland,
Scotia and Erin fair,
Let all combine with heart and hand
To advance Australia fair.
In joyful strains then let us sing
Advance Australia fair.

Verse 4

Should foreign foe e'er sight our coast,
Or dare a foot to land,
We'll rouse to arms like sires of yore,
To guard our native strand;
Britannia then shall surely know,
Though oceans roll between,
Her sons in fair Australia's land

Special Announcements

15th February – Michael Ellinger Birthday.

24th February – Jim Cochrane Birthday.

Still keep their courage green.
In joyful strains then let us sing
Advance Australia fair.*

The 1901 Federation version of the third verse was originally sung as:

Third verse

Beneath our radiant Southern Cross,
We'll toil with hearts and hands;
To make our youthful Commonwealth
Renowned of all the lands;
For loyal sons beyond the seas
We've boundless plains to share;
With courage let us all combine
To advance Australia fair.
In joyful strains then let us sing
Advance Australia fair!*

Glenys then got the club members and visitors to stand up and we all sang the current version of Advance Australia Fair.

After the singing Bill Sides asked each member to speak briefly on what they will be doing on Australia Day.

Meeting Notes:

- John Barnes gave an update on our involvement in the car parking for the Australian Women's Open Golf at the Commonwealth Golf Club. The date for the golf is from the 3rd to 6th February 2011. The car parking this time will be at the Mavis Hutter reserve in Oakleigh South. The cost for the car parking will be $8 per car. The roster has been put together to cover the four days and this will be broken up into two shifts, 6:00 am – 10:00 am & 10:00 am to 3:00 pm. Two people will be required at the Golf Course & five parking the cars. John & Jim will meet with Golf Australia on the 29th January to finalise all the details. The roster for the four days is now complete and a copy will be sent to all members by John.
- Craig Merson sent an e-mail to all members with regards to a Food Hygiene Course on the 12th February at Holmesglen Moorabbin from 9:00 am until 3:30 pm. The cost of the course is $190, but if a big crowd attends there will be a discount to $165. If you are interested please let Craig know as soon as possible.

- Craig Merson gave an update on the Farmers Market on the 22nd January. The Market was very quiet this month again and we only broke even with our BBQ. The club feels that more advertising is needed and hopes that the market will pick up next month now that school holidays are finished and the university will start up again. It was also agreed that further discussion with the RC of Monash is required for future planning.
- Tom Portelli gave an update on the progress of the Amended Constitution & the By Laws of Rotary International. He will provide a further update next week.
- Bill Sides reminded the club that the meeting next week will have a Scottish Theme and Craig Merson will be doing a presentation on Robbie Burns (see article in this bulletin) and providing Haggis for all the members to try.
- John (Yiannis) Drosis presented our club with a gift from the Rotary Club of Trikala. This is the club that John was a member of before transferring to Clayton.

Apologies = John Goldspink, Jim Cochrane, Jean Cochrane & Glenys Pattison (last week).

Make Ups = Heather Norling, Craig & Katherine Merson (Monash Farmers Market).

Leave of Absence = None.

Visitors = Marie Antoinette & Rita.

Think Foundation Thoughts

January: Rotary Awareness Month

This week's Foundation Thought is about ...

Future Vision. —You can view the glass as half full or half empty on the topic of Future Vision. However, as we have worked through the steps needed to qualify our clubs and district, smaller clubs have begun to embrace the process and actively seek ways to work with other clubs, both within and outside our district, to create larger, more sustainable projects. Thousands upon thousands of people can be positively impacted by such projects and then we can truly claim that we are living up to our mission of Doing Good in the World. I challenge Rotarians to think big about the Future Vision Plan. — Rotarian Cecelia Babkirk

Celebrating 21 years of Women in Rotary

International Women's Day Breakfast

Tuesday 8 March 2011

Hemisphere Conference Centre & Hotel

488 South Road

Moorabbin

$30.00 per person

Every year since 1911, International Women's Day commemorates past achievements and highlights current social, economic and political issues facing women throughout the world. It provides an opportunity to develop networks and facilitate partnerships between women, organisations and the broader community.

Join guest speakers Dr Helen Szoke, Victorian Human Rights & Equal Opportunity Commissioner and Rotary International President Ray Klinginsmith to hear their perspective on the significant contribution that women have made in society and how Rotary can engage more women to strengthen our communities in the future.

This event is open to Rotarians and guests who want to recognise and celebrate the achievements of women in community service. We encourage you to invite your family, friends, business acquaintances and your club's community service colleagues to share this special day.

Registration details will be available soon through District and Club communication channels!

Joke of the Week

A minister decided that a visual demonstration would add emphasis to his Sunday sermon.

Four worms were placed into four jars. The first worm was put into a jar of alcohol, the second into a jar of cigarette smoke, the third into a jar of chocolate syrup and the fourth into a jar of clean soil.

At the end of the sermon, the minister reported the first, second and third worms were dead.

So the minister asked the congregation what they had learnt from this demonstration.

A little old woman in the back quickly raised her hand and said: "As long as you drink, smoke and eat chocolate, you won't get worms."

International Assembly inspires Rotary leaders to embrace humanity

By Joseph Derr
Rotary International News -- 24 January 2011

The next class of Rotary district governors emerged from the 2011 International Assembly in San Diego, California, USA, with new ideas, skills, and friendships that will help them lead during the 2011-12 year.

RI President-elect Kalyan Banerjee began the week by inspiring the 530 governors-elect to Reach Within to Embrace Humanity.

"In order to achieve anything in this world, a person has to use all the resources he can draw on. And the only place to start is with ourselves and within ourselves," he said.

Later in the week, Banerjee announced plans for the 2011-12 Changemaker Award, which will recognize Rotary clubs that make an extraordinary impact through their work in the Avenues of Service.

Rotary Foundation Trustee Chair Carl-Wilhelm Stenhammar shared early success stories of the Foundation's Future Vision Plan. A three-year pilot began on 1 July with 100 districts. All districts will start using the plan's new grant model on 1 July 2013.

In his address to the governors-elect, RI Director John C. Smarge spotlighted one of Rotary's greatest challenges: "Since 2003, we have added 2,552 Rotary clubs yet only increased our overall membership by 226 members."

Smarge encouraged Rotary leaders to strengthen clubs by branding Rotary as the organization of choice for business, professional, and community leaders throughout the world.

Joseph H. Jones, governor-elect of District 6220 (parts of Michigan and Wisconsin, USA), found Smarge's address inspiring. "Everyone is talking about how we need to grow membership. I'm going to focus on retention," said Jones, who plans to use Facebook and YouTube to keep club members engaged and excited about Rotary.

Katie Ischkin, president and founder of the Rotary Club of South Metro Minneapolis Evenings, Minnesota, USA, offered her perspective on a new approach to Rotary during the fifth plenary session. The 27-year-old change management consultant said that minor changes in the format of club meetings can go a long way in attracting busy young professionals to Rotary.

Throughout the week, the incoming district governors took part in training sessions led by past Rotary leaders. Wyn Spiller, one of 40 training leaders, said the discussion groups produced many new ideas, such as forming "buddy clubs" by pairing a club that is strong in member retention with one that is struggling. "We also discussed having a mobile training team of Rotary experts in a district who can come to the clubs," Spiller said.

The incoming district governors also heard from past RI presidents, including Rajendra K. Saboo, who talked about having passion for leadership, and Bhichai Rattakul, who discussed Rotary's core values.

RI President Ray Klinginsmith elaborated on those values during the final plenary session.

"Service, fellowship, integrity, diversity, and leadership are our core values, which I prefer to call our Rotary DNA," Klinginsmith said. "Those traits are what distinguish us from other organizations. There is no doubt that we can help our club leaders to Reach Within to Embrace Humanity, and to make the world a better place, because we have been doing it for more than 100 years, and we do it better than anyone else in the world."

At the farewell dinner gala, Rotary leaders met attorney John Hewko, who will take over as RI's general secretary on 1 July with the retirement of General Secretary Ed Futa. Hewko said his new role will "not be so much a job as a passion" because of his affinity for Rotary's core values.

Those values were evident throughout the week. Incoming district governors and their spouses presented contributions of more than $330,000 to The Rotary Foundation. Assembly participants also donated 2,154 books in 21 languages to children in the San Diego area and prepared 1,200 literacy kits for communities in New Orleans, Louisiana, site of the 2011 RI Convention.

For Larry Clauberg, governor-elect of District 4650 (Brazil), the event was a turning point. "It was an opportunity to experience how international Rotary really is. We are leaving the meeting as different people than we were when we arrived."
