Presidents Report

Hello Members and Friends of Rotary,

Firstly, I would like to thank all the wonderful members and friends who have been in touch while I was laid up with the 'flu. Thank you also, Michael, for taking over and chairing last week's meeting. It makes my job as President so much easier when others step in and carry out Club duties.

Bronwen has distributed more copies of the Club questionnaire, so please if you haven't already filled one out, do so now.

Our Street Stall will be held on Saturday, 19th. October and I'm hoping for a good sale of items.

A donation has been received of a "Hawthorn Premiership Package" to raffle. This consists of a Hawthorn cooler bag, a Sherrin football, and lots of goodies such as chocolates, biscuits, drinks and many other items, all tied off with brown and gold ribbons. Come on, Warren, Bronwen and all other Hawthorn supporters; open up your wallets. Tickets are on sale at $1,00 each so please support this fundraiser.

The Rotary information brochure is looking good---- Thank you Glenys for all your hard work on this project. Thanks also to all Club members for their input.

A reminder that the Board Meeting scheduled for Wednesday, 16th October has been postponed to Wednesday, 23rd October.

Have a great week!

Yours in Rotary,
Heather

Using the computer and projector we displayed the promotional flyer on the wall and all members in attendance had the opportunity to make comments and suggestions while the flyer was being updated. After completion of the meeting, a copy of the flyer was sent to John Barnes, Tom Portelli, Glenys Pattison and Bronwen Lamond for proof reading.

Think Foundation Thoughts

October: Vocational Service Month • World Polio Day, 23 October

This week's Foundation Thought is about ...

Polio. —Some Rotarians have had the privilege of working with polio survivors to support PolioPlus, and what an inspiration those survivors can be! Clearly, no one understands the need to eradicate polio better than those who struggled with the disease. They challenge us to achieve that final 1 percent and complete this eradication goal, this task of epic proportions. The final stages of eradication will be difficult and when considering a worldwide challenge, the numbers can sometimes be overwhelming. Perhaps it would help to think of it this way: Because you and I prevented polio, somewhere in the world a healthy child is happily playing in the sun. On behalf of all those children, thank you! — Rotarian Terry Toone

Joke of the Week

A nice, calm and respectable lady went into the pharmacy, walked up to the pharmacist, looked straight into his eyes, and said, "I'd like to buy some cyanide."

The pharmacist asked, "Why in the world do you need cyanide?"

The lady replied, "I need it to poison my husband."

The pharmacist's eyes got big and he explained, "Lord have mercy! I can't give you cyanide to kill your husband, that's against the law! I'll lose my license! They'll throw both of us in jail! All kinds of bad things will happen. Absolutely not! You CANNOT have any cyanide!"

The lady reached into her purse and pulled out a picture of her husband in bed with the pharmacist's wife.

The pharmacist looked at the picture and said, "You didn't tell me you had a prescription."

Opening the door to polio eradication

It's been more than two years since the last polio case was reported in Côte d'Ivoire. Time enough for people to become complacent about immunizations. But that would be a mistake – a potentially deadly mistake.

“The public sometimes doesn't understand why, after so many rounds of polio immunization, they are still being asked to bring their children to the immunization post,” says Marie-Irène Richmond-Ahoua, chair of Rotary's National PolioPlus Committee in Côte d'Ivoire.

As a long-time advocate for polio eradication, Richmond-Ahoua knows you can't let up against this tenacious and crippling disease. With Nigeria one of three remaining polio-endemic countries, the possibility of fresh outbreaks in Côte d'Ivoire is a constant threat. The only way to keep the polio virus out of the country are regular immunizations of all children under age five.

During National Immunization Days (NIDs) in April, thousands of volunteers and health workers, together with Rotary and Rotaract members, canvassed the streets throughout the country in search of children to immunize. They traveled from house to house knocking on doors in shantytowns and rural villages. But gaining entrance to these homes required another round of convincing.

“Côte d'Ivoire has just experienced a conflict and people are still cautious. They don't want to open their door to just anyone,” says Richmond-Ahoua. But once they see the polio T-shirts and hats that Rotary clubs supply to identify vaccinators, she says they feel safe opening their doors.

Communication is also key to mobilizing public support. Rotary members use the media, television, radio, and even griots, African tribal storytellers, to encourage participation in immunizations. As a result, 7.5 million children received two drops of oral polio vaccine, along with vitamin A supplements and de-worming tablets, during the NIDs.

Supplementary immunization campaigns like this one are part of the comprehensive 2013-18 Polio Eradication and Endgame Strategic Plan. The plan outlines what is needed to eradicate all polio disease by 2018. In June the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation announced a new fundraising agreement with Rotary. If successful, the campaign, which matches donations two-to-one (up to $35 million per year), will help raise $525 million for polio eradication.

“Polio eradication is not an option, it’s an obligation,” Richmond-Ahoua says. “When you consider what’s been done in Côte d’Ivoire, despite the many obstacles we’ve faced, you are deeply convinced that polio will soon be eradicated.”
